Many business owners work tirelessly to serve clients, manage projects, market their services, and run their businesses, often wearing far too many hats. While hard work is important, growth is often limited by insufficient support in key areas of your business.

In this interactive presentation, Liz M Lopez introduces The Support-Growth Model™, a practical framework that helps business owners identify the different types of support needed to create sustainable growth, improve visibility, attract ideal clients, and increase revenue.

Participants will explore the various levels of support that contribute to business success, assess where they are well-supported and where gaps may exist, and identify opportunities to strengthen their support systems.
